Didsbury District's Fall Fair

Didsbury's Eleventh Annual Fall Fair held on Tuesday and Wednesday, October 7th and 8th was in every way a decided success, being due no doubt to the fine weather which we had on those dates, and also previous to that time.

It cannot be said that the number of entries received this year by the Secretary-Treasurer would exceed that of last, but that there were fully as many is an understood fact.

As the results of a fine day and the exhibits being placed early, judging was commenced much sooner in the day, so that the smaller exhibits were thrown open in good time for inspection by the public.

The entries this year in the cattle classes by far outreached that of former years, and no doubt due to the fact that this district has in the past few years, become one of the largest dairying districts in the western provinces.

The exhibit of horses this year being about the same in number as last but which cannot be said to have been any small number, and indicates to a large extent the great strides this district is making in going into raising good horse stock. In fact the heavy horse judge, Mr. C. Young of Leamington, Ont., made the statement that the exhibit was a credit to any old country and exceptional for a new country like this. Mr. Loves, the light horse judge made similar remarks regarding the light horse classes, particularly in the ladies' and gents drivers and driving teams, and one thing we are pleased in the above case to say is, that practically are the prize winners of the immediate district.

Sheep and hog classes were not so well filled, although what were exhibited were some of the best to be seen anywhere.

We regret to say that the poultry classes were not up to former years, yet there were some exceptionally fine birds amongst those that were on exhibit.

The exhibits of grain, roots and vegetables, while not being quite so large as in former years, displayed some most excellent samples. The vegetables were a pleasure to look upon, their size, cleanliness from blemishes and all round excellence making it a very hard matter for the judges in awarding the prizes.

While in speaking of the exhibits the ladies' work comes last it should be thoroughly understood that it deserves a place near the front because of its excellence. The large tent provided for this work being fairly well filled and it is safe to say that the exhibits of bread, cakes, butter, preserves, fancy work and flowers shown could not be equalled.

A new feature of having a prize winner's parade was highly appreciated by all parties unable to see the judging in the ring. Special mention might be made of the high class stallions, both heavy draft and light, four horse teams etc. The management intends that this should be an annual occurrence from now on.

Harvest Home

What is more beautiful or more characteristic of this part of Alberta than fields bristling with stooks of grain? On all sides they are seen in our vicinity. As many as fifty threshing machines have been counted at work within a radius of fifteen miles. Prosperity and plenty spell good times for everybody—especially for the merchant.

It has been pretty well established that grain growing is not best just here, but this year is an exception. The grain is abundant and of a fine quality. In fact we hope to see our fine grist mill greatly increase its operation. At all events much feeding will be done and as a result a finer quality of beef, pork and veal marketed. More land will be broken and a greater interest and enthusiasm possess the farmers. We have this year the greatest reason to be thankful for our abundant harvest.

Practical Education

Said a professional man the other day. Why do not our city schools teach the pupils how to write an ordinary business letter? Why do they not give them an education that will be sufficiently practical that they can be relied upon to copy a document with at least a redimentary idea of what it is about? He went on to tell how he had to have his typist make several copies of a document before she could get a correct one, because she insisted in writing words that sounded like those in the original, but had no sense at all in the connection in which she used them. He says that there is much ground for many such complaints.

Our personal experience does not enable us to express any opinion on this point, but a similar complaint has frequently been made to us. We hardly know what remedy to suggest but it is certainly beyond all questions that a pupil who has graduated from the High School ought to know how to write a letter, and know that precedent and precedent are different words. In view of the complaints referred to, we suggest to the school authorities that the matter may be worth a little inquiry, and that if a real evil exists, means should be taken to remedy it.

It is much more important that a clerk in an office or a counting room should be able to write a business letter or add up a column of figures correctly than to be able to tell how often Henry VIII. was married or how far it is to the moon. It is much more important to be able to copy a document with some intelligent comprehension of what the language means than to be able to analyze a sentence according to the latest tomfool notions as to the construction of sentences. We had occasion to look over a modern grammar the other day and undertake to say that Shakespeare, Milton, Addison or Macaulay could not have scored 3 out of a possible 100 if they were set to answer an examination paper on it. Possibly a little more of practical instruction in English and a little less theory might not be amiss.

A young housewife was showing a new and inexperienced servant about the house, explaining the various duties that would be hers. In an upper hall they came suddenly to the head of the back stairs, and the lady said: "Nancy, you will go down this way, always! and with that the mistress slipped and tumbled, going all the way down with many lurches and bumps. The new maid was agast.

Lor, missus, I'm afraid I won't suit you at all. That way of goin' downstairs is a bit too dangerous for me.

I ain't no ordinary tramp, ma'am, I am a man with a history. No, thanks. We want no book canvassers here!

HOW LONDON GETS MILK

When the Biggest City Had a Famine

So much milk is sent up to London that the price is so high that poor people in country districts have simply to go without it, was the startling statement made by Lady Meyer at the conference of the National Food Reform Association the other day.

But it is not so surprising after all when we remember what a mighty volume of milk the people of the metropolis consume every year—about 112,000,000 gallons for which they pay annually about five million pounds. There is no city of magnitude in the world that can compete against London with its milk supply.

About fifty years ago the milk that was consumed in London mostly came from districts within the metropolitan area. But foot and mouth disease broke out among the cows, and it was then that London experienced a real milk famine. It was at this time that a far-seeing man—Sir George Barham—thought of getting milk from the healthy cows in Wilts and Hants.

London's greatest supply of milk comes from Wilts, but large quantities come also from Derbyshire, Staffordshire, Berkshire, Buckinghamshire, Hampshire and Surrey. Milk has come to London even from Wales, Ireland and Penzance, and in a few instances from Scotland. The following figures represent approximately the number of churns which are brought by different railways to London every year (each churn contains about 14 gallons of milk): Great Western Railway, 1,200,000 churns; Great Northern Railway, 400,000 churns; Midland Railway, 341,000 churns; London and Brighton Railway, 255,000 churns.

All these railways took to the enterprise from the beginning and what then proved an ill-paying item is now one of the most flourishing, and keen competition exists in counties which are traversed by more than one railway company. Special trains led to the building of special milk vans and the movement towards sanitary insulation led to improvements which were not dreamt of at an earlier day.

Every line has its refrigerating vans with special accessories for excluding dust and all kinds of germs. The latest pattern of milk van belongs to the London and Southwestern Railway. They are fitted like modern Pullmans, with Westinghouse and vacuum brakes and oil gas lamps, and the inner ventilation is ever better than that of the best passenger coach.

The farmer, or his assistant, rises early in the morning, not solely out of consideration for the crowing of the cock or rising sun; it is the exigency of railway traffic which sets the alarm. The patient kine await in the sheds the milkmaid, or man, or boy, or automatic milking machine.

Patent strainers and coolers prepare the milk for transport. The cooler has taken the place of an old practice of surreptitiously dusting boracic acid into the churns.

In the summer, for an imperial gallon, the farmer receives 7d. and 8d., and in winter 9d. and 10d., delivered at the London terminus, and the transportation costs him one penny per gallon.

Playing the Game

A pompous director of a large railway company once landed at a small station and requested the porter to carry his bag. The stationmaster was quick to notice the importance of the arrival, and as the porter passed him struggling with the heavy Gladstone, managed to whisper: Be careful, Bill! That's Lord Blank, one of the directors.

The porter's chance of a tip vanished with this information, but subsequently upon relinquishing the bag, he was astonished to find himself the recipient of a shilling.

Momentarily surprised, he stared at the coin in his palm, and the director thinking his behaviour savored of dissatisfaction, remarked: Under the company's regulations you are not supposed to accept gratuities.

Yes, sir—no, sir, stammered the porter, and then, recovering his self-control and closing his left eyelid, he said: But one employee never splits on another!

No Air for Him

The bartender grasped the man next the stove by the shoulder and shook him until he was awake.

Here, Zept, he told him, you'd better go out and get some fresh air. It'll do you good.

Zept merely grunted drunkenly and huddled back in his chair. The bartender tried again, with like result.

You won't get out, won't you? he roared angrily. Seizing the unfortunate Zept by the collar and the seat of the trousers, he escorted him forcibly to the alley.

Get out there in the air and brace up! was the parting advice. You kin put me out if ye like, but—Zept straightened up with drunken dignity—ye can't make me take no air, dern ye!

There is a young lawyer in a town which shall be nameless. He has little or no practice, and is at present feeling discouraged. On leaving his office the other day he placed a card on the door on which he had neatly written:

Will return in an hour. When he came back he found written the words: What for?

Father, why can a man run faster than a boy? Because he's bigger. Is that so? Then why don't the hind wheels of a wagon run faster than the front ones? I give it up.

An Obliging Horse

A doctor and a clergyman were exercising their horses one morning in a country lane, when an argument arose between them as to which of the animals possessed the sweeter disposition.

I'll wager that if their respective tempers could be tried, said the doctor, mine would be far away the better.

That's all nonsense, retorted the clergyman. My mare has the best temper of any horse in the neighborhood.

Well, here's a stiff hedge, let us try their leaping capabilities, suggested the doctor.

Right you are, agreed his friend.

The doctor's hunter quietly refused the jump, although put at it again and again. The clergyman's little mare also refused, but at the same time threw back her ears and exhibited considerable ill-temper.

When repeatedly urged to jump she finally accomplished a clever buck-jumping feat, which threw her master straight over the hedge. Strange to relate, the reverend gentleman was quite unhurt, and scrambling to his feet commenced to scrape the mud from his broadcloth, whilst the doctor laughingly remarked:

Perhaps you are convinced now that my animal has a better disposition than yours.

Not at all! replied the clergyman. My mare is such an unselfish little brute that, although unable to take the fence herself, she had no desire to keep me from going over. In fact, she facilitated the mode of my transit whilst your horse displayed a dog-in-the-manger temperament by not going himself and not allowing you to go either.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. P. J. CHE. EY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

The time has passed, said the orator haughtily, when any man can hide himself behind a woman's petticoats. You bet, commented the cynic in a back seat. Those X-ray skirts have stopped that.

THE DOCTOR'S GIFT

Food Worth its Weight in Gold

We usually expect the doctor to put us on some kind of penance and give us bitter medicines.

An Eastern doctor brought a patient something entirely different and the results are truly interesting.

"Two years ago," writes this patient, "I was a frequent victim of acute indigestion and biliousness, being allowed to eat very few things. One day our family doctor brought me a small package, saying he had found something for me to eat.

"He said it was a food called Grape-Nuts and even as its golden color might suggest it was worth its weight in gold. I was sick and tired, trying one thing after another to no avail, but consented to try this new food.

"Well! It surpassed my doctor's fondest anticipation and every day since then I have blessed the good doctor and the inventor of Grape-Nuts.

"I noticed improvement at once and in a month's time my former spells of indigestion had disappeared. In two months I felt like a new man. My mind was much clearer and keener, my body took on the vitality of youth, and this condition has continued."

"There's a Reason." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

Where the Danger Was

The train was undoubtedly a record-breaker for speed. It held the slow-traveling championship of the States. The passenger who had been fidgeting in his seat for several hours got up at last and strolled along the corridor to the front of the train, where he came upon the guard playing marbles with the engine-driver.

Hallow, there! he called. I suppose you don't mind a bit of good advice if it's given in a friendly spirit?

The conductor pocketed two marbles and said he didn't.

Then why, said the pale passenger, don't you have the cow-catcher taken off the front and put on the back.

The conductor stared hard and suspiciously.

Why should we? he asked at length. Why, responded the pale passenger, for fear a cow might come along the track and bite somebody.

Oil the Future Fuel of Navies

There can be no doubt that the naval future lies with oil as against coal. A given tonnage of oil as against an equal tonnage of coal will enable the same ship to steam much faster, to get up speed quicker and to travel 40 per cent. farther; moreover, the supply can be replenished in a small fraction of the time, and on the high sea in nearly any weather instead of in port.

When you add that per knot steamed the cost is about the same, and that the world's visible supply seems as infinite for any near future as the coal supply, the case seems conclusive. The objection that coal is a home product while oil is imported, is of no relevance from a naval or strategic point of view, because if we were prevented from importing oil we could not import any other necessity of national existence.

This and other objections will no doubt continue to be urged, since the withdrawal of the British navy's consumption, followed as it must be by that of foreign navies, will be a serious thing for the steam-coal producers in our midst. Theirs are powerful interests, but not interests in whose favor the admiralty could properly forego the highest naval efficiency.—London Chronicle.

Minard's Liniment Relieves Neuralgia

Now, Johnny, said his mother, we shall have company to dinner today, and I don't want you to say a word while they are here, then no one need find out that you are so silly.

The guests came. After some desultory remarks, a gentleman, who is passionately fond of children, turned to Johnny, whose mother, being busily engaged in another part of the room, did not hear the conversation that ensued.

Well, my son, said the gentleman, pleasantly, how old are you?

Johnny, obeying orders, sat like a sphinx.

Can't you tell me your age? said another, thinking the boy a little diffident.

Still Johnny spake not. I can make him talk, said a bright young lady. You like the girls better than you do those horrid men, don't you, Johnny? Now, come over here beside me and tell me how old you are.

Silent as the grave.

Why, I believe the boy is an idiot! said the gentleman who had first addressed him, in a banting way.

There, ma, said he. 'Tain't no use! I hain't opened my mouth, and they all know it already!

A Budding Financier

Outside it was snowing hard and the teacher considered it her duty to warn her charges.

Boys and girls should be very careful colds at this time, she said, solemnly. I had a darling little brother only seven years old. One day he went out in the snow with his new sled and caught cold. Pneumonia set in and in three days he was dead.

A hush fell upon the schoolroom; then a youngster in the back row stood up and asked:

Where's his sled?

This Should Hold Him Awhile

Two Missouri editors who have waged a word battle for some time seemed to have about exhausted themselves. One of them hurled this bludgeon as a climax to the feud:

He now lies buried in his own mud. Not even a turkey buzzard remains above the horizon to ooze to mark his burial spot. A turkey buzzard has got some sense. It knows when it has got enough. Nobody would have gall enough to ask a buzzard to put a clamp on its nose and make a meal of pure mud. We feel it a high honor to be attacked by him in any way. If we had not been denounced by him and his sort we would feel that we had been derelict in our duty and had fallen short of life's ideals.

Richest Spot in Canada

In Toronto, Canada, there are two blocks on King Street, between Yonge and Bay streets, and including the corners of these two cross streets, which composes the richest strip of property in Canada. The land alone in these two blocks is worth on an approximate estimate, $16,000,000, while the buildings are worth $9,500,000. New structures to cost $6,500,000 have been started, or will be under construction this year. Thus, including the natural values and inland values that may be expected, this 1,500 feet of frontage in the heart of the city of Toronto will have, by the end of the year, a value closely approaching $35,000,000.

Morning finds him wholly unfitted for a day of business, and yet, business must still be carried through. All this night-suffering and lack of rest can be avoided by the prompt use of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy, which positively does drive away the attacks.

Gorry! exclaimed Pat, them chug wagons must cost a hape a cash. The rich in this country is fairly burning money.

Indade, then, replied Jim, be the smell av it, it must be that tainted money we do be hearing so much about.

A Safe Pill for Sufferers.—There are pills that violently purge and fill the stomach and intestines with pain. Parlee's Vegetable Pills are mild and effective. They are purely vegetable, no mineral purgative entering into their composition and their effect is soothing and beneficial. Try them and be convinced. Thousands can attest their great curative qualities because thousands owe their healthy and strength to timely use of this most excellent medicine.

of the bowels is an absolute necessity for good health. Unless the waste matter from the food which collects there is got rid of at least once a day, it decays and poisons the whole body, causing biliousness, indigestion and sick headaches. Had Her Own Way

It was a sunny day, and the florist's window, full of gaily-decked flowers, looked unusually seductive.

Soon there entered a lady of attractive appearance, but with a certain firmness of expression, indicative of a disposition to have her own way.

She selected a brilliant-looking plant, in a Japanese flower-pot, and having ascertained the price, and announced that she would take it, inquired if it would do well in the sun.

Certainly, miss, said the florist's assistant.

Don't say it will if it won't, she remarked, sharply. Now, if it grows well in the sun, will the shade hurt it?

Not in the least, mum, responded the assistant.

Ah, she said, with a tightening of the lips; here is a plant that is declared to do equally well in shade or sun, which to say the least, is neither natural nor probable.

Precisely, madam. You see, it's an artificial plant.

And then the lady, having paid for her purchase, went out, with a flushed face, and shut the door with a slam that nearly broke the glass panels.

NERVOUS CHILDREN

ARE OFTEN IN THE EARLY STAGES OF ST. VITUS DANCE

They Need a Tonic to Strengthen the Weak Nerves and Restore Them to Natural Health

Many a child has been called awkward, has been punished in school for not keeping still, or for dropping things, when the child is not really at fault, as the trouble is really St. Vitus dance in its earlier stages. So common is this nervous disease in childhood that in some schools one-fifth of all the pupils have been found suffering from it in one form or another. Before the presence of the disease is betrayed there is usually a disturbance of the general health. The child shows listlessness and inattention. Then it becomes restless, and twitching of the muscles and jerking of the limbs and body follow. A remedy that cures St. Vitus dance and cures it so thoroughly that no trace of the disease remains is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which make the new blood necessary to feed the starving nerves and gives them the nourishment they demand.

Mrs. Hiram Barnhart, Scotia Junction, Ont., says: "About two years ago my oldest daughter, Mabel, then ten years of age, was stricken with St. Vitus dance. She could not keep still for half a minute, no matter how hard she tried. Her limbs would jerk and twitch and every little thing would start her crying. I gave her several bottles of medicine said to be good for the nerves, but instead of helping her she was steadily growing worse. Her voice would change so that we could hardly understand her, and her face became twitched until she did not look like the same child. I had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills myself when run down, and finally decided to give her these. When she had taken two boxes I could notice an improvement, and by the time she had used five boxes she was fully cured. However, I was determined to make the cure permanent if possible, and I gave her two boxes more, and I can truthfully say that she has never had a symptom of the trouble since, and is now as bright and active as any child of her age. I heartily recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to all mothers as the result of what they have done for my child and myself."

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A tourist returning from an extended trip was about to cross the last river on the way to the railroad station for home.

Say, cap'n, he said, as he stepped timidly into the rickety old craft, this boat seems very shaky; was anybody ever lost in her?

Not to my knowledge, replied the boatman. There was three men drowned from her last Thursday, but we found them all next high tide the day after.

Nest on a Sheep's Back

A well-authenticated story of a starling's nest on a sheep's back comes from Buckland-Brewer, near Lideford, on the authority of a Cardiff gentleman, who has just returned from a visit there. During sheep shearing operations on Gournwood farm, which is in the occupation of a Mr. Cox, one of the shearers cut in half a young starling which was in a nest that had been built in the sheep's wool. The nest, which contained two other fledglings still alive, was composed of moss and twigs. For some weeks previous to the shearing the sheep, with others, had had the run of three fields near the farm.

He is a smart man who only makes mistakes at the other fellow's expense.

Heard Enough

Young Giles, eager to join the Metropolitan Police Force, journeyed to London to pass the necessary medical examination. This he survived satisfactorily, and the next day the proud recruit was interviewed by a high official.

Well, my man, said the latter you look like a promising sort of fellow. What kind of education have you had?

Oh, sir, said the recruit, I was educated at a country school.

Ah, and you have a good general knowledge, I hope.

Oh, yes, sir.

I wonder—can you tell me, for example, how many miles it is from London to Edinburgh?

At this the recruit became nervously agitated, and at length he blurted out:

Look here, sir, if you're going to put me on that beat, I'm done with the force.

For Company

First Pitman (to pal, who is wheeling a barrow along the street on Sunday)—Hallo laud! What be oop to with your barrow?

Second Pitman—It's like this, I lost my cog the other day, and I just bought my barrow with me for company. A man looks such a fool by himself!

Sleep is the great nourisher of infants, and without peaceful sleep the child will not thrive. This cannot be got if the infant be troubled with worms. Mill's Worm Powders will destroy worms and drive them from the system, and afterwards the child's will be undisturbed. The powders cannot injure the most delicate baby, and there is nothing so effective for restoring the health of a worm-worm infant.

A Hard One

Father! Well, what is it?

It says here a man is known by the company he keeps. Is that so, father?

Yes, yes, yes.

Well, father, if a good man keeps company with a bad man, is the good man bad because he keeps company with the bad man, and is the bad man good because he keeps company with the good man?

Arriving

College Suitor—All eyening I have been waiting to say something to you.

Damsel (in despair)—It wasn't good-night, was it?

Neglect

So your husband is beginning to neglect you?

Yes, replied Mrs. Torkins, with a sigh. I am afraid Charley is getting to be very selfish. He is so deeply interested in the baseball pennant that he doesn't seem to care whether I win a prize at a card party or not.

The Best Treatment for Itching Scalps, Dandruff and Falling Hair

To allay itching and irritation of the scalp, prevent dry, thin and falling hair, remove crusts, scales and dandruff, and promote the growth and beauty of the hair, the following special treatment is most effective, agreeable and economical. On retiring, comb the hair out straight all around, then begin at the side and make a parting, gently rubbing Cuticura ointment into the parting with a bit of soft flannel held over the end of the finger. Anoint additional partings about half an inch apart until the whole scalp has been treated, the purpose being to get the Cuticura ointment on the scalp skin rather than on the hair. The next morning, shampoo with Cuticura soap and hot water. Shampoo alone may be used as often as agreeable, but once or twice a month is generally sufficient for this special treatment for women's hair. Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold throughout the world. A liberal sample of each, with 32-page booklet on the care and treatment of the skin and scalp, sent post-free. scalp and hair, we will pay for what you use during the trial.

We could not so strongly endorse Rexall "93" Hair Tonic and continue to sell it to the same people if it did not do all we claim. Should it not prove entirely satisfactory our cus-

If your hair is falling out or you suffer any scalp trouble, we believe Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will do more to eradicate the dandruff, give health to the scalp, stimulate new hair growth and prevent premature baldness than any other human agency.

We want you to make us prove this. We ask you to risk no money whatever. Buy a bottle of Rexall
"93" Hair Tonic, use it according to directions for thirty days; then if you are not entirely satisfied, come and tell us and we will promptly hand back the money you paid us for it.

Could we do anything more to prove our belief in Rexall "93" Hair Tonic, and our honesty of purpose in recom-
